Sir,

Public Services - Madras Co-operative Subordinate Service - War Service candidates trained in co-operative institutions - Recruitment as Junior Inspectors.

Endorsement No.96632-BI/47-1 Dev., dated 10-10-47
" 98766-BI/47-1 " " 20-10-47
" 101962-BI/47-1 " " 28-10-47
" 4282 -BI/48-1 " " 12- 1-48

In the endorsements cited, Government have asked me to offer remarks on the several representations received by them from war service candidates who have undergone training in the Co-operative institutes but could not be recruited as Junior Inspectors. As the points raised by all the petitioners are similar, I offer the following remarks which are common to all.

From the details furnished by the Public Service Commission it is found that there were as many as 674 qualified ex-servicemen against 250 posts reserved for them, probably that accounts for the reason why the Commission could not recruit the petitioners.

Most of the ex-servicemen who have undergone Co-operative training are only S.S.L.C. holders and they cannot be recruited as Junior Inspectors unless the rules are amended. It was only with the intention of helping such candidates that I proposed in my letter to Government, No.208/45/N dated 12-11-45 that ex-servicemen possessing minimum general educational qualification might be recruited as Junior Inspectors and suggested an amendment to the special rules. But the Government in their order No.Ms.930 Development dated 28-2-1946 did not accept the proposal, as they consider that such a provision would operate to restrict the powers vested in the selecting authority as to what is an equivalent qualification with reference to rule 5(a) of the Madras Civil Service (War Service Personal) Recruiting rules 1941. I request the Government to reconsider the matter and accept the amendment originally suggested by me. This will help the petitioners and others similarly placed. As the Commission is likely to call for applications for filling up 275 vacancies of Junior Inspectors immediately early orders may kindly be passed.
